Rheumatism Recipe.

A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the following valuable though simple and harmless, prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Karger, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and, being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly, for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will, no doubt, be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the druggists here will mix the prescription for our readers if asked to.

All the merchants report a good Christmas business, with a tendency toward useful and practical presents.

Chief of Police Guilou with his family spent Christmas in Presque Isle. Patrolman Taggett was on duty during his absence.

Mr. Fred B. Kidder who has been having a run of typhoid fever is able to be out, although he is still weak.

The ladies of the Unitarian church will hold their usual supper at the vestry on Thursday evening of this week.

A public union meeting will be in one of the churches for the women of Houlton in the evening of next Sunday.

Rev. T. P. Williams will preach at the Methodist church in Hodgdon next Sunday afternoon, at the new church.

J. T. Fanning the well known potato buyer has returned from New York where he spent Christmas with his family.

Dr. Osgood who has dispensed of his dental business has accepted the agency for Ford and Overland automobiles for this vicinity.

The Christmas edition of the Mars Hill View contained 20 pages with an appropriate cover, which meant a great deal of extra work.

A large number of people gathered on Court street and enjoyed the "brushes" between some of Houlton's fast horses Christmas Day.

Potatoes

The market is quiet this week, the price being $1.50 per bbl. at buying points with a small amount of stock coming in. The drop in price from 1st week being on account of foreign stock coming in to the Boston and New York markets.

B. & A. Asks Tax Rebate on Allagash Extension.

I. A. Turner, chairman of the legislative committee of the engineers of the Maine Central, A. L. Chase, chairman of a similar committee from the Bangor & Aroostook engineers, and Stephen Doten, representing the Boston & Maine engineers, have been interviewing members of the legislature and urging upon them an extension of time granted to the B. & A. R. R. by which 95 per cent of the railroad's tax is rebated, practically as a subsidy for that road. These men say they have a definite promise from the directors of the B. & A. road that if the legislature will extend the time on this rebate for ten years and grant a similar rebate for a like period on the proposed road they are to construct that they will build within five years a line from West Sebos to Ft. Kent, a distance of 80 odd miles.

The proposed road goes through the Allagash country and to the mouth of the St. Francis river and then follows the St. John to Fort Kent.

Editor "Aroostook Times," Houlton, Me.

Dear Mr. Fogg:-

Referring to the recent communication in your paper, relative to rates on potato sacks.

I beg to advise that the old basis applying on sacks has been practically restored. For your information would say that the recent advance was brought about through a change in the classification to that of the official, which is now being generally used on all Eastern lines.

and upon attention being called to the fact that meant an advance in the rate on sacks, a revision was promptly made and is effective today.

Yours truly, G. F. Snow,
Special Agent.

A Musical Treat.

After the holidays the Yaw concert!

A good holiday present would be a New Years card that was in the form of a ticket for the Yaw concert, for all through the year the sweet notes heard from this wonderful singer would linger in memory and with every thought of the generous giver who supplied the ticket.

Why not purchase a couple of tickets and know by experience how pleasant all this is?

The Yaw Concert Company certainly offers great attractions at most popular prices and Houlton is most fortunate to have such an opportunity.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. committee have been fortunate in securing Dr. Beace of the Bangor Theological Seminary to speak to the men of Houlton next Sunday Jan. 3, 1909, both afternoon and evening in the Bijou Theatre. Dr. Beace is a man of wide sympathy and strong personality. He is a forceful speaker and the men of Houlton should give him an enthusiastic hearing. An offering will be taken to defray expenses.

The days have now begun to lengthen and the old saying goes, "the cold begins to strengthen."

This is the season of new resolutions and while the majority of them are soon broken, there is some satisfaction in knowing that they have been kept for even a little while.

Efforts are being put forth by the residents of the territory of New Mexico, when they are admitted to Statehood, which will doubtless be during the coming year to have the name changed to Lincoln in honor of the memory of President Abraham Lincoln.

February 12, 1909, will be the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, and on that day there will be an observance of a national character, which will be conducted by the G. A. R. The observance in Houlton will be of the same general character as in other places, arrangements for which are now being made. There is no reason why this day should not be made a national holiday every year, marking as it does a very important epoch in the history of our country, the birthday of one of our most notable presidents.

More and more as we grow we appreciate the finer traits that are in human nature. Men going out into life never forget the mother who stays at home, and who has presented to them a nature with a reason dominant with a high moral sense, with refined and sweet affections, with taste, with patience, gentleness, and with self sacrifice. A man may go through all the world, he may run through every stage of belief and disbelief, but there will be one picture that he cannot efface. Living or dying there will rise up before him like a morning star the beauty of that remembered goodness which he called "mother."

Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison all prominent members and officials of the American Federation of Labor were sentenced to twelve months, nine months and six months respectively, in jail for contempt of court in violating an order previously issued enjoining them from placing on the "unfair" or "we-don't-patronize" list the Bucks Store & Range company of St. Louis. All three of the defendants were in court when sentence was pronounced and notice of an appeal to the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, was filed at once. Gompers was released on $5,000, Mitchell on $1,000 and Morrison on $3,000 bail.

The selection of Senator Knox for the portfolio of state in the next cabinet confirms the faith of the nation in the administration of Mr. Taft. It is apparent that for the next four years there is to be at Washington a government of strong men. The fact that the Pennsylvanian has been drafted from the Senate, where he would have been a powerful support for the policies of the administration, is in itself a striking indication of the importance which Mr. Taft attaches to his cabinet positions. And Senator Knox, by entering the cabinet after less than three years of senatorial service, shows his appreciation of the opportunities for public service as an official counselor of the President. No other selection could better retrieve the loss experienced occasioned by the retirement of Secretary Root, while the Senate may also congratulate itself that, if it is to lose the services of Senator Knox, it will gain the services of a man similarly conservative, strong and experienced in national affairs.

The members of the Maine Tax Commission Morrill N. Drew of Portland, William S. White of Rockland, Milton L. Merrill of St. Albans, George M. Hanson of Calais and Frank C. Deering of Saco, appointed under authority of Chapter 108 of the Laws of 1907, to investigate the present system of assessing and collecting taxes in the State of Maine, Friday submitted their report to Governor William T. Cobb. Commissioners White and Merrill submitted dissenting reports. The report of the commission recommends that: All assessments be at the full market value, that State assessors be invested with greater powers, that the State tax be apportioned according to land values, that public service corporations be taxed on an ad valorem basis, that savings deposits in national banks be taxed, that life insurance companies be taxed according to the value of their reserves, that automobiles be taxed according to the size of the car, that the tax on bank stock be made uniform, that a direct and collateral inheritance tax be levied, that uniformity be brought about in the taxation of steamboats, that a mortgage recording tax be levied, that poll taxes be made uniform in all municipalities, that pleasure boats be taxed wherever found on April 1, that foreign corporations pay a license fee, that a public utilities commission be created, that State, county and municipal bonds be exempted from taxation, and that securities of such Maine corporations as pay a tax based on their full value be exempted.

The assessors believe that the adoption of these recommendations will result in such an increased State revenue from indirect taxation that the Legislature can prudently reduce by one-half the amount of direct State tax. Should this be apportioned on land values alone, the State tax on cities and towns would be reduced from $1,000,000 to $450,000.

the little ones would wade about, building houses or gathering odd shaped pebbles.

Early one spring morning, when the parson and his scholars had started for their picnic grounds, news came that the water up at the head of the canyon was rising rapidly. An extra gang of men were put to work strengthening the upper dam, and when the noon hour came everything seemed to have been made secure. But the rapidly melting snow in the Eagle Tails was gradually filling the river up, and the enormous pressure brought to bear on dam soon had its effect.

The first warning of danger came in the shape of a roaring sound from up the canyon. Without any further notice, a wedge shaped wall of water,
bearing on its foaming crest the wreckage of the upper dam, and trees and carcasses of cattle, with a spume of yellow froth sliding swiftly at its foot, and two great waves dashing high against the cliffs, came sweeping down the canyon. The great dam at Cactus Flats melted away like cardboard, and the wall of furious water went dashing on its way.

No one thought for a moment of the picnic party, until Cheyenne, followed by two strangers, was seen galloping madly across the mesa. He shouted something as he passed "The Rest,"

and the words "parson" and "the kids" caused them to remember. The next moment the whole camp, mounted or on foot, were rushing down the canyon shouting, weeping, swearing—a mob as wild as the wave that had just dashed by on its terrible errand.

As the foremost ones turned the bend, they saw a group of wet and bedraggled children huddled together in safety on the shore, while in mid stream was the parson, grasping the tail of his straining pony, with two children clinging to the saddle. Then the brave little animal faltered, suddenly whirled around, and sank. Out of the froth a black head appeared. It was the parson swimming with only one child now, and a yell of horror went up from the excited crowd as a tree rushed by and struck the swimmer's head. But Cheyenne, with a lariat around his body, had plunged into the water. A few strong strokes brought him to the inanimate parson's side, and they hauled all three up on the bank.

The boy still lived; but the parson—across his brow a deep, ugly cut stretched to the back of his head, and his breathing was very faint.

"Is he dead?" asked Cheyenne in a choked voice.

A stranger, one of those who had followed Cheyenne, leaned over and felt his breast. As he did so, the parson opened his eyes.

"Hullo, sheriff," he gasped, "you've come back, but I guess you're too late,
for I'm done for this trip."

"Hush," whispered the sheriff, bending close to the dying man. "Nobody knows and nobody ain't goin' to know."

The parson grasped weakly for the sheriff's hand and pressed it between his own.

"Where's the boy?" he asked. "I got them all over before the bar went.
Those on the shore were carried away first, but the boy—Peperita's boy!"

"He's all right, parson," sobbed Big Muddy.

"Thank God! Well, I'm going, boys.
Thank you, Cheyenne? Lift me up." Cheyenne raised the wet head and rested it on his knee. "Look after the boy, Cheyenne. Find his father."

"Parson," interrupted the sheriff,
"the boy's mine—I am Henry Wade.
I see you were don't mo' to him than I could do, so I never said nothin' that time—leave him to me now."

"How everything gets straight, don't it?" the parson whispered. "Cheyenne, are you there? Try and get the boys to keep the school going. Get another teacher—a good one that can tell them how to live."

He paused. His eyes were looking heavenward, apparently watching the movements of a bird that was slowly circling overhead against the blue, and they heard him murmur:

"Father, I have sinned against heaven and in Thy name, and am no more worthy—no more worthy—"

The tangled skein of his life had been straightened out. The parson of Cactus Flats was dead.

An Appalling Foresight.

A Philadelphia lawyer tells of his residence years ago in an Indiana town, where he was the only legal light, and where he was accustomed to arrange the disputes of his neighbors.

On one occasion, says he, was awakened at an early hour in the morning by a loud knocking at his door. Putting his head out of the window he discovered that the individual who had thus rudely interrupted his slumbers was one Malachi McCabe, for whom that day the lawyer had drawn a will.

"What's the trouble, Malachi?"

"It's the will," said McCabe. "I couldn't get a wink of sleep thinkin'
of it."

"The will?" repeated the lawyer,
in surprise.

"Yes," said the Irishman, "ye've fixed it so I've not left myself a stool to sit on!"

Economy.

"I have just read a story of an economical farmer that Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., had been telling to his Sunday-school class," said Higgins.
"He says there is a farmer out near Cleveland who makes a fad of economy. Every time he drives into town he carries a hen with him tied to the seat of his buggy. A friend who rode out with him one day was curious to learn the use of that hen, so he watched carefully, and found out. When at noon the farmer lunched under a tree he gave his mare a feed from a nose-bag, and Higher Subscription Rates.

It is quite probable that all the newspapers of Aroostook will raise their subscription rates in the near future to keep pace with the advance of prices in everything else. As everybody knows, it now takes more than $1.50 to be as good as $1 was only 12 years ago. Then 12 years ago $1 a year was known by everybody to be a very low price for a local paper. Publishers who have had a lot of experience with local papers and conditions surrounding them have always declared that a local paper that tried to do anything could not be published at any profit for less than $1.50 a year, and this away back in old times when $1 was worth more than $1.50 is now. How true must this be at present, when $1 buys only as much as 66 cents bought as late as 1896? The dollar rate is indeed a low rate. Paper has advanced, help has advanced, clothing has advanced, fuel has advanced, food has advanced, rent has advanced, everything else has advanced; but the price of local papers in Aroostook has remained the same. It is time they advanced also, not because the publishers are greedy, and want to get rich too fast, but simply because they have the human desire to make a living and not let their souls fly away from their bodies for the want of food. However, in the case of the REVIEW anyone can, until further announcement, pay up as far in advance as he wishes at the low rate of $1 a year. But it is a fact that the regular subscription price is likely to advance at any time. Of course we shall give notice of the proposed advance a short time before it actually takes place. Pay up now while you have the money, and get the paper at the low rate as long as you wish it. — Fort Fairfield Review.

The conditions as stated above are just about the same in Houlton as in Fort Fairfield, and in all probability the papers in this section will be obliged to raise the yearly rate to $1.50. We will still receive subscriptions at the old rate and any subscriber may pay as far in advance as he wishes at the old price.

OF THE ST TO FARMERS

Gumption on the Farm.

Make a good work bench this winter. Use all last year's failures as guide-posts for the New Year.

Put the tools where they will be the easiest to find, not the easiest to drop.

Men are a good deal like beans;—they don't amount to much unless there's plenty of snap to them.

Make it your business to shovel a good wide path through the snow for your wife to walk in when she hangs out the clothes.

When cutting in the woodlot be careful to avoid injuring any of the smaller trees. They may be larger sometime. Care for them.

The hen sometimes makes a big fuss about a small egg, but she keeps right on, day after day, doing her best at the one thing she knows.

When you are thinking of buying a farm, look for plenty of wood for fuel and other purposes for good water, good neighbors and good market advantages.

Keep a dairy; begin on the first day of the New Year and follow it up.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for anyone who can tell us of a cure for the following ailments:

daily. You will be surprised how many things that are important to remember you will find stored away.

"Isn't it strange," remarked a way-back farmer, as he watched an up-to-date neighbor sawing wood with a patent saw, run by a gasoline engine, "how men will scheme to get out of honest work."

Put everything down in writing when you lease a farm. Memory can not be relied on. It is remarkable how different men will remember different things. If it is all down in black and white, there can be no mistake.

When it is not convenient to apply heat to frozen pipes to thaw them, spread a cloth thickly with unsalted lime, fasten it around the frozen pipe and throw water on it. The heat produced as the lime slakes is great enough to thaw the ice.

There was a belief common for many generations that boys, like wheat, must be well thrashed to get the best out of them. The rod is no longer plied in the school or family, and yet there is after all a pretty fair crop of boys.

Have things gone wrong with you this past year? Now don't get discouraged and imagine you are going to wind up at the poorhouse. The new year is here, good things may be coming around the corner your way. Brace up; have nerve. Never forget that many a great undertaking has been wrought into success after a promise of failures.

It is tough on the wagon to drive it over the rough, frozen roads these days. Especially where the ruts are deep it is hard on felloes and other parts. It is a good plan to have a second-best wagon for these times, and so save the good one. But this utility wagon should always be a good solid one, that will not break down on the way to town.

The all-around man tries to be square with the world.

Will some one please step forward and tell us what the see-saw?

Are your harrow teeth aching out in some snow-drifted fence corner? If so, why so?

Blest is the man whose wish and care is just to be happy anywhere.

The men who try to hide their light are few, while those who seek to shine in the light of others are many.

The kitchen range is not very large or imposing, but it is a most important complement to the cattle and sheep range.

The reason so many men are lounging about waiting for political plums, is because they are too lazy to raise plums of any other sort.

It is an apparent contradiction that while the grocer desires to take orders from everybody, he still insists upon doing quite as he pleases.

A tempest in a teacup is a familiar phenomenon; but only those who live in the cyclone belt are permitted to observe a teacup in a tempest.

While you are tinkering around at this season making things, make a few good resolutions, and then stick to them like a sand-bur to a sheep's tail.

Good nature is as contagious as the measles. Put on your best smile when you get up in the morning and observe how everybody will greet you with a sunny face.

"When I hear a man bragging about hardships," said Uncle Remus, "I just ask him: Was he ever on top of a powder mill and blown a hundred feet in the air?"

Are You Wretched in Bad Weather?

KEEPING THE KIDNEYS WELL HAS KEPT MANY PEOPLE OF HOULTON WELL.

Many Houlton people find that bad weather brings on a dull pain in the back, or rheumatic aching, neuralgia, nervousness, irritability and weakness. If, when you get wet or take cold, it "settles on the kidneys," and there is a shivery, chilly sensation in the back, it shows kidney weakness, which is often the beginning of disease. Doan's Kidney Pills should be used persistently until the chilly feeling is gone and the flow of urine is natural. Doan's Kidney Pills have saved Houlton people much suffering.

Mrs. Ella E. Fletcher, 34 Franklin Ave., Houlton, Me., says:—"All last winter I felt miserable and was run down in health as a result of kidney disease. There was a constant aching across my loins, accompanied by rheumatic twinges through my sides and over my kidneys. During damp or changeable weather or when I contracted a cold, I felt much worse. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I had my son procure a box for me at Hatheway Co's drug store, and I began their use. They gave me almost immediate relief and thereby proved to be all that is claimed for them. I do not hesitate to recommend them to anyone afflicted with kidney trouble to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Selecting the New Flock

If one is raising lambs, both for market and to perpetuate the flock, the animals ought to be carefully watched during the period of growth so that the best ones may be selected, marked and reserved for breeding purposes. It takes some little time and close watching to know just which lambs are the best, but it surely pays to spend the time and thought necessary. Be careful about the pasture the lambs have; the old sheep can manage more or less tough grass, but the lambs should have the tender spots and should also have access occasionally to a field of rape to furnish variety. Unless the pasture for both lambs and sheep is all that it should be, do not depend too wholly upon it, but feed more or less in the way of hay, the tender portions going to the lambs, of course. Then remember the question of water, bearing in mind that all domestic animals suffer from thirst during the summer. Remember how thirsty you get in very warm weather and so treat your animals on the water question as if they were your other selves.—American Stockman.

Dairy Do's.

Corn is much too concentrated to feed the cows by itself. For best results it should be diluted.

Dairy economy means the greatest production from the largest number of choice cows on the smallest acreage.

To keep cows' teats from cracking, grease them once each week with amberleam. It will keep them soft and save the poor brute considerable pain.

Old People

NEED VINOL

It strengthens and vitalizes. Vinol tones up the digestive organs, aids assimilation, enriches the blood, and rejuvenates every organ in the body. In this natural manner Vinol replaces weakness with strength.

We are positive it will benefit every old person who will give it a trial. If it don't we will refund their money.

a Babcock tester. With one you can tell just which of your cows are making a profit and which ones are losing money.

Be honest with your cows and your customers and you will have no trouble producing good cream and butter and always finding a ready market for both.

Cow peas make an excellent food for dairy cows when combined with other grain and fodder in proper proportions. They are highly concentrated and nitrogenous.

One of the very best feeds to give the skim milk calf is oats chop. Throw a little dry crop in a box and allow the calf to eat of it whenever it desires. Gradually increase the amount as the calf grows older.

Cows require a different kind of feeding in some respects to that of beef animals, and Dr. Roberts, the Wisconsin state veterinarian, says the dairy feed for a 1,000 pound cow is 40 pounds of silage, 7 pounds clover hay and 8 pounds of grain.

A recent Pennsylvania butter-scoring contest shows an increase in the number of commercial starters used to be noted, though the scores of the users show that there is much to be learned about the making and using of the starter. A good starter is a great help, a poor one worse than none.
